Bloomingtondale Academy.

SITUATION.

True to the instincts of the pioneer Friends, who located their school and meeting houses in the most favorable places, Bloomingtondale Academy is ideally located on one of the most prominent elevations in the village of Bloomingtondale.

It is surrounded by nature's most beautiful forest trees. The campus is not only an object of beauty, but affords ample opportunity for games and recreation.

Bloomingtondale is noted for its healthful and sanitary conditions, and for the morality and intelligence of its citizens. It is surrounded by a prosperous farming community. You could not ask for a better atmosphere in which to carry on your school work.

The large brick building contains assembly room, recitation rooms, library, laboratory and an auditorium, fitted with opera chairs, capable of seating 500 people.

OUTLOOK.

The outlook for the Academy continues to grow brighter. Through the increased attendance we are enabled to add another teacher. Each teacher has had at least three years' experience in teaching, which guarantees a strong corps of teachers.

Our friends are becoming interested in some very much-needed improvements about the building, viz.: A new heating plant, and several minor changes for the beautification of the building, both inside and out.

It seems to be a matter of only a short time until a course in Agriculture will be part of our curriculum.

The transfer law passed by our last legislature (explained elsewhere) will very materially strengthen the school.

A certificate of equivalency has been granted the school by the State Board of Education.

ADMISSION.

The Common School Diploma, awarded by a County Superintendent, is accepted for entrance to the Academy.

Mature students not holding common school diplomas will be admitted as special students provided they are capable of carrying the academic work, but will not be accepted as candidates for graduation. Those not having taken county examinations may become candidates for graduation by passing satisfactory entrance examination.

Students entering from any high school of good standing will receive full credit for all work done therein upon presentation of a statement showing the exact nature and amount of work, signed by the principal or superintendent of the school.

EXPLANATION OF COURSE OF STUDY

Three courses, differing only slightly from each other, are offered for the coming year, viz.: College preparatory, in which the requirements for college entrance form the basis of the course.

Scientific, in which four full years of science are given, and German, in which the foreign language is German.

With the consent of the principal, students selecting one course may elect studies from the others.

The work as outlined is arranged so as to meet all the requirements for the commissioned high schools of the State. Sixteen units of work are required.

A unit consists of one year's work, of one recitation per day, in a single subject. These units are divided as follows: Mathematics, three; English, four; Language, three; History, three; Science, two; Elective, one. Under some conditions the number of electives may be increased, but it is not advised.

DEPARTMENTAL WORK.Mathematics.

First year Mathematics consists of a study of the fundamental operations of Algebra, including addition, subtraction, multiplication, division, factoring, fractions, simple and simultaneous equations, theory of exponents and radicals.

Quadratic Equations forms the principal parts of second year Algebra, which is completed in the fall term. The two remaining terms are devoted to the study of Plane Geometry. Supplementary to the theorems in the text, special emphasis is placed upon original exercises, with a view to stimulating independent thought on the part of the student. The third year of Mathematics consists of Solid and Spherical Geometry and Commercial Arithmetic.

For the benefit of those expecting to enter college, after the completion of their Academic work, a review course in Algebra is offered in the last term of the Senior year.

English.

No better basis for a broad culture is found than in a working knowledge of the mother tongue. It is the vehicle by which we gain and impart knowledge. Our thoughts, however good, avail little without the ability to express them in a clear and forceful manner. To gain this ability is the aim of the four years' course in English. Grammar, Composition, Rhetoric, one year each of American and English Literature, a representative selection of works from standard authors forms the basis of this work.

Latin.

The work of the first year consists of a careful study of the structure of the Latin language. Special attention is laid upon pronunciation, inflection, syntax and translation. The aim is to lay a thorough foundation for the study of Latin and to gain a real appreciation of the language. Text, "Collar and Daniell's First Year Latin."

The Sophomore year is devoted to the study of Caesar and prose composition. Three books of Caesar are required. Text, "Ralfe and Dennison's Junior Latin Book."

The Junior year is devoted to Cicero and prose composition. Five orations are required.

The Senior year is devoted to Virgil. Attention is given to prosody and special emphasis is laid upon clear translation in fluent and idiomatic English.

German.

First year. Collar's First Year German; Guerber's Marchen und Erzählungen I; Reader, Gluck Auf; Germelshausen; Grim's Marchen Bernhardt's Novellettem Bibliothek I.

Second year. Joynes-Meissner Grammar; Marchen und Erzählungen

11; Immensee Hohenal's die Kirche; Schillers Wilhelm Tell and other reading.

Third year. (To be outlined.)

History.

In the Sophomore year the fall term is devoted to the study of Roman history; the winter term to Greek history, and the spring term to Medieval history.

Two terms of English and one of either French or Modern history are given in the Junior year.

Senior year history consists of two terms of American history and one term of Civics.

Physics.

A full year's work is given to the study of Physics. It is the purpose to give the student an acquaintance with the principal laws of elementary Physics. Laboratory methods are used as far as practicable in illustrating the principles of the science. Millikan and Gale's physics is used as a text. A laboratory manual by the same authors will be used for reference. The laboratory is well selected. It contains the principal apparatus which the student needs in scientific research; about $275.00 worth in all.

Manual Training.

The course in Manual Training which was introduced into the Academy the past year has surpassed all expectation. Great interest was shown by those who could take the course and the development was rapid, as their products show. This work has passed the experimental stage. It is sure to stay and grow as rapidly as means will permit.

The purpose of the course is to acquaint the pupil with the care and use of tools.

The first year's work is devoted to bench work, the making of joints, splices, boxes, etc. After the student shows sufficient skill in the use of tools he is allowed to take up the construction of a cabinet piece. He pays for the lumber and keeps the product.

The second year work will be a more extended work in cabinet construction, glueing, varnishing, etc. Students showing enough skill will take up the work on the lathe. The first work on the lathe will be wood-turning, followed by iron turning.

The third year will be same line of work as second but of greater difficulty.

A fee of one dollar per term is charged to cover the expense of first course lumber and the use of tools. Each student may be asked to make some apparatus for the shop or Academy each term.

Botany.

A full year is devoted to the study of Botany. In the fall term Apgar's Trees of the Northern U. S. will be used as a text in the study of the trees of the vicinity. The object being to gain a better acquaintance with these useful and beautiful objects which we find on every side. The work will consist, in the main, of analysis, description and classification of the various trees. Each student will be expected to carefully preserve a specimen of the leaf of each tree studied, to be placed in a permanent notebook along with the description of the tree. The class will make as complete a collection as possible, of a specimen of the wood from each kind of tree. These specimens will be kept as a part of the equipment of the school. The winter term work will consist of the study of structural Botany, including seed germination, nourishment of the plant, structure, fertilization and fruit.

The spring term will be devoted to the study of flowers and flowering plants. This work will consist of classification and analysis of flowers and the preservation of a specimen of each flower studied.

Physical Geography.

Two terms are devoted to the study of the physical features of the earth's surface, the ocean, winds, climate, etc. These are studied with special reference to their effect upon the distribution of plant and animal life and the habits and habitation of mankind. Laboratory lessons will form a large part of this work.

Bible.

Supplementary to the work in English the following Bible courses are offered:

Senior Course: History of the Hebrew People, consisting of a brief survey of the successive steps in the history of the Hebrew people, embracing a study of their social, political and religious life, a study of Palestine as a country and its influence upon the national life.

Junior Course: Old Testament Prophets. A study in the life, times, writings and messages of some of the early and late prophets with a general view of prophecy as an introduction.

Sophomore Course: Life of Paul. A study of the life and work of the Apostle as related to the Roman and Jewish world of the first century A. D., giving also a view of the rise and development of the Christian Church.

Music and Drawing.

Free hand drawing, first and second year work. A course in mechanical drawing will be given if sufficient number desire. One hour per week.

The music consists of a study of the first principles of music, sight reading and chorus work. One hour per week.

Elocution and Oratory.

Classes in Elocution are formed each year, and ample drill is given in the art of expression. Every student has an opportunity to receive a thorough training in public speaking, in preparing orations for the class, public contests and graduation exercises in the several departments. This has proven a most valuable means of development to all students.

It will be seen by our announcements that contests in oratory and declamation are held at the close of the winter term.

The Academy was represented in the inter-Academic, held at Earlham, this year, by Fred Towell, in Oratory, and Hazel Jessup, in declamation.

Scholarships.

A free tuition of one year is awarded the county graduates making the highest grades in their respective townships. These scholarships are not transferable and must be used within one year from the date issued.

ATHLETICS.

An Athletic Association is maintained by the boys in which all take some part. Outdoor games, including tennis, baseball, track work, football, etc. furnish physical exercise for the students.

The past year Bloomingdale won three football games and tied three. In two neither side scored. Seven basketball games were won and one lost. Bloomingdale won the inter-Academic track meet at Earlham.

All contests are conducted according to the rules of the State H. S. A. A. of which we are a member. Healthful athletics will be encouraged in every way.

EXPENSES.

The school year consists of 36 weeks. It is divided into three terms.

For special or private students the tuition is $10 (ten) per term, due at the beginning of the term. For students transferred from public school corporations tuition will be charged according to the provisions of the Acts of the 1909 State Legislature, which will be practically the same.

Chapter 72, page 173, of the published Acts of the last Legislature, reads as follows: "Whenever any child, resident in one school corporation of the state, may be better accommodated in the school of another school corporation, the school trustee, board of school teachers, or commissioners of the school corporation in which such child resides shall, upon application of the parent, guardian or custodian of such child, made at any time, grant an order of transfer which shall entitle such child to attend the schools of the corporation to which such transfer is made under the conditions hereinafter prescribed: Provided, That in determining whether a child can be better accommodated in the schools of another school corporation than that in which such child resides, such matters as the proximity of the schools of the township and city to the residence of such child desiring the transfer; The kind and character of the roads to each; The means of transportation, if any, to each; The crowded conditions of the schools in either of the two school corporations shall be pertinent; and Provided further, That the desire to attend a commissioned or accredited high school, when no such school is maintained in the resident school corporation, or when in attending such commissioned or accredited high school the living expenses can be more advantageously provided for in another school corporation, or when such commissioned or accredited high school in another school corporation is more accessible. shall be deemed reasons for such transfer; and Provided further, That the provisions of this act shall be construed as applying in the same manner to resident pupils who are graduates from the eighth grade in the common schools of this state, or its equivalent, who may desire to attend a private school of the secondary rank, which having been duly approved by the State Board of Education, holds the same rank as a commissioned high school."

Chapters 127 and 137 relate to the same subject.

The maximum transfer fee is more than the tuition at the Academy, which means that the Academy is the same to the transferred pupil as a public school.

BOARDING.

Good boarding in the best of families can be secured at reasonable rates.

Comfortable rooms can be rented at 25 cents per week. Furnished rooms at 50 cents. Students, whose supplies have been furnished from home, have rented rooms and boarded themselves for less than $50 per year, including tuition.

The Principal of the Academy will render all assistance possible in helping the students to secure homes while they remain in school, and at the cheapest rate than can be secured.

GENERAL ITEMS.

Although the care and control of the Academy is denominational, no attempt is made to turn students to the peculiar views of the Friends.

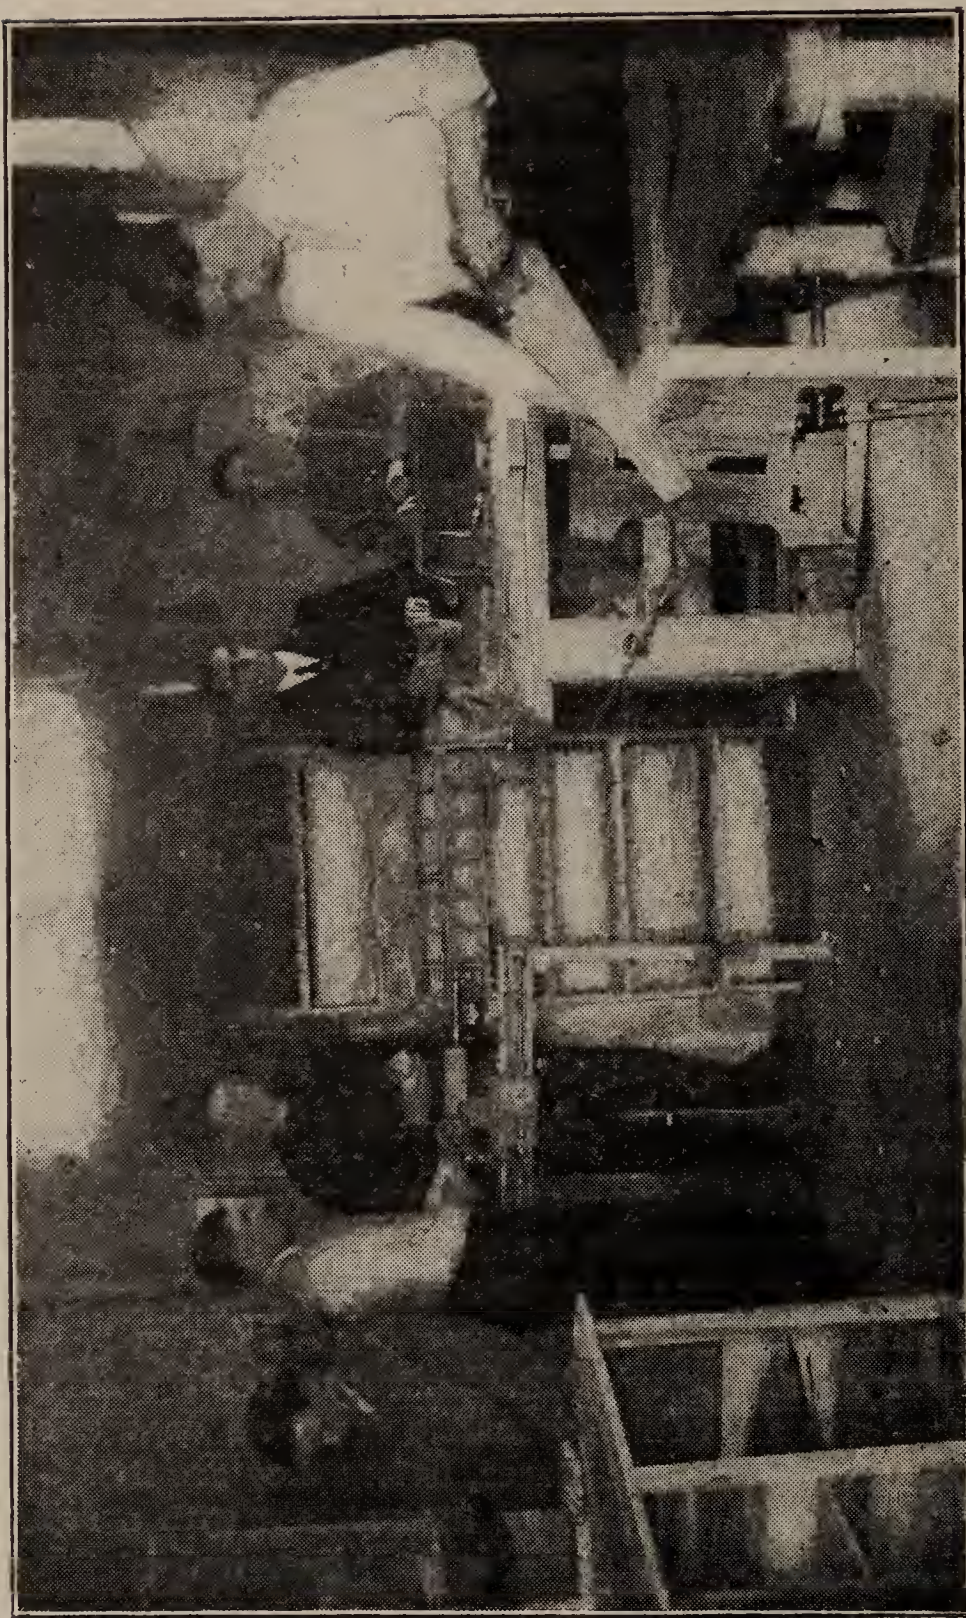

NO DISTINCTION IS MADE BETWEEN STUDENTS ON ACCOUNT OF THEIR FAITH.

A sincere effort is being made by the Principal to break down all prejudice that may have existed on account of different religious opinion in the community. The school stands for the highest type of morality and all christian virtues. Students are encouraged to attend one of the different places of worship that are accessible to the students on the Sabbath day. Students are held responsible for their deportment and associations, at all times and in all places, unless they are living at their own homes, and those whose character is inconsistent with a reputable moral standing will not be retained as students.

School supplies may be purchased in Bloomingdale.

Students have free access to a library of 700 volumes. We solicit the patronage of those seeking a first-class, safe school.

For further information address the Principal.
